TWELVE SPHERES OF INFLUENCE OF THE COUNCIL OF CHURCH BOARDS OF EDUCATION

ROBERT L. KELLY

1. The Council is a fact finding agency. It initiates and stimulates surveys of church related institutions and agencies of which there are more than eight hundred listed by the church boards of education.

2. The Council is a clearing house of information. The files are full of data, the library is constantly growing and the staff members are informed and alert. The office conducts a heavy correspondence and has many inquiring visitors.

3. The Council is a counsellor and friend. The staff members are called upon constantly for citations, opinions, interpretations, and development plans. These concern every type of problem in the field of higher education, all of which have their religious significance.

4. The Council produces and stimulates the production of literature on Christian education. The Council has written and edited many books, brochures and reports, and publishes nine issues of CHRISTIAN EDUCATION annually and the HANDBOOK OF CHRISTIAN EDUCATION every three years.

5. The Secretaries of the Council represent Christian education personally to the public. This is done through radio talks, lectures, addresses, and conferences.

6. The Council in cooperation with the Association of American Colleges works for the improvement of every phase of liberal education on the college level. More time and effort are spent in this area perhaps than in any other.

7. The Council has a special department of university work. This is largely, though not wholly in tax-supported institutions. The University Committee, consisting of thirteen board secretaries, is very active: these secretaries and the University Secretary of the Council visit institutions in every state in the Union in which institutions there are approximately three hundred full time and six hundred part time salaried representatives of the church.

8. The Council serves in liaison relationships. These are with a multitude of other national educational and religious associations, and with foundations, insurance companies, trust companies and the legal profession.

9. The Council promotes recruiting. Especially is this done in the fields of college teaching, for the ministry, missionaries and other full time Christian workers.

10. The Council encourages personal relationships. There has developed in this area a remarkable spirit of fellowship and camaraderie among the staff members of the various boards, colleges and other institutions and agencies.

11. The Council sets up conferences. These are in nature and scope, local, regional and national. The annual meetings of the Council, the Association of American Colleges and allied associations bring together each year the largest number of college and university presidents and deans, church board officers and friends of the liberal college and Christian education who ever come together in our country.

12. Then, there are the overtones. The multitude of intangibles and imponderables; the influences that can scarcely be named and understood but can be felt and that count most of all, perhaps in the promotion of cooperation within the fields of Christian education and liberal education. This in a sentence is what it is all about.

THE COUNCIL OF CHURCH BOARDS OF EDUCATION

WHEN? WHY? HOW?

BISHOP THOMAS NICHOLSON, LL.D.*

The writer, having been connected with one of the denominational colleges of Iowa for eight years and having been president of a small college in South Dakota for five years, by election of the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church of 1908 became the Corresponding Secretary of the Board of Education of that Church, with offices located in New York City. The knowledge derived from college experience, from his contacts with all the educational forces while he had been in different years the President of the State Teachers' Association in each of two different states, and his general survey of conditions over the country deeply convinced him of three or four things.

First, that there was a spirit of rivalry and competition among the denominational colleges which seriously affected in certain particulars the quality and breadth of the education they were giving. It also tended to accentuate their sectarian spirit which was out of keeping with the tolerant spirit of the age. It also prevented a certain type of well-to-do public-spirited citizens, some of the men of large wealth who otherwise would be interested in these institutions, from contributing to them as they otherwise might. In fact, it was plain to the writer that these institutions were standing in their own light.

Second, there was what seemed to him an unwarranted and unhealthful attitude toward the state universities. In no small degree the appeal of many of these denominational colleges was made to their constituencies on the narrow basis of the alleged "Godlessness" of the state institutions. In some quarters trustees, alumni, and supporters of these small colleges were found in open or covert opposition to liberal grants for the state institutions. The writer believed this to be an entirely wrong attitude and that the spirit thus inspired in students was unfortunate.

Third, he believed that the system of education in the United States, partly on a state and national basis and under state control and partly on a voluntary basis with emphasis upon religion and ethics, spirituality, and morality, was pretty close to the ideal system. The state, through its greater sources of income, could prescribe standards of efficiency, of equipment, of compensation for worthy professors and employes of great advantage to the whole educational system. The denominational colleges if on a broad but vital basis would be a constant challenge to the state in many particulars and could aid in keeping a public spirit and a public sentiment which would make state education safer and more vital for the body politic.

There were other important considerations as will appear. However, under the spur of these convictions the secretaries of the various Church Boards of Education, as far as names and addresses could be secured in that uncooperative period, were invited to meet at the office of the Methodist Board, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York. The first meeting was held on February 18, 1911. In addition to the writer, who was made chairman of the meeting, there were present Doctor Henry H. Sweets, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., who was made secretary; Doctor Stonewall Anderson, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South; Doctor Robert Mackenzie, Secretary of the College Board of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A.; Doctor F. G. Gotwald, Secretary of the Lutheran Board; Doctor Edward S. Tead, Secretary of the Congregational Education Society; and Doctor J. W. Cochran, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Presbyterian Church, U. S. A. This meeting was given over to an informal discussion of common educational problems and to the possibility of some united action in the interests of Christian education. The spirit was cordial, fraternal, helpful, and appreciative of the necessity of cultivating the spirit of cooperation. There was a critical discussion of the present and prospective reasons for the denominational college; another on the lines of denominational federation, with autonomy which might seem feasible; and a third on the relation of the denominations to state institutions. At the close of the day it was decided to hold a second meeting at an early date.

This second meeting was held in the offices of the Presbyterian College Board in New York on April 27, 1911. Several other persons in addition to those at the first meeting were present, notably Professor Rufus M. Jones representing the Educational Board of the Society of Friends, Doctor William E. Gardiner of the Protestant Episcopal Board, and of special interest and value, Doctor Wallace Buttrick, who had recently begun his career as head of the Rockefeller educational interests. The papers and addresses proved to be very interesting and several principles were deduced as a result of the discussions. Among them were the following:

First. A large degree of cooperation between educational boards is practicable and desirable. Through this we might secure a better geographical distribution of denominational colleges, valuable comity in many particulars, and a proper standardization of institutions.

Second. The denominations should offer loyal support to the public school system and should cooperate in efforts to secure larger appropriations for the same. It was determined that this procedure would in no way interfere with the true mission and the more liberal sustentation of denominational colleges.

Third. There should be a direct and open approach by the denominations to the problem of religious instruction at state university centers. The state university needs the denominational college and in very important particulars the denominational college is helped by the state university.

It is a noteworthy fact that from early in the history of this organization some of the most notable and broadminded deliverances were made by presidents of state universities. Perhaps most notable among these were the ringing words of President William Oxley Thompson, of the Ohio State University, and those of the late lamented President Edmund Janes James, of the University of Illinois. In a very short time the spirit of cooperation between state and denominational colleges throughout the country began to take on a different aspect. Leaving the office of Doctor Mackenzie that evening, Doctor Buttrick remarked to the writer, to whom he was giving generous credit for the initiation of the movement, that in his judgment this organization was destined to have a great place in American education, and would prove to be one of the most significant movements with which the writer had ever had to do.

Before this meeting adjourned five committees were appointed. Their names are significant: I. A committee on comity and cooperation. II. A committee on academic efficiency. III. A committee on interdenominational campaigns. IV. A committee on religious work in state and denominational institutions. V. A committee on secondary schools.

The third conference was held at the Witherspoon Building, Philadelphia, the headquarters of the Presbyterian Board, January 17, 1912. Each of the committees presented important reports. The organization heretofore without definite title was officially designated "The Council of Church Boards of Education." Provision was made for the adoption of the constitution and by-laws, and the organization was fairly launched. The charter members of the Council, in addition to those previously mentioned as present at earlier conferences were: President Miner C. Bates, Secretary of the College Association of the Disciples of Christ, President Hill M. Bell, Drake University, also representing the Disciples, the Reverend W. T. Campbell, United Presbyterian Church, Dr. J. G. Gebhard, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Reformed Church in America, the Reverend J. W. Horine, Secretary of the Board of Education of the Evangelical Lutheran Church, Dr. Richard C. Hughes, Secretary for University Work, Presbyterian Church, U. S. A., the Reverend C. M. Jacobs and Dr. A. J. Turkle, members of the same board, the Reverend M. T. Morrill of the Christian Church. Annual meetings were held thereafter and at the fifth annual meeting, held in Chicago, January, 1916, there were thirty regular members, representing, as I recall, twenty-three denominational boards, with a goodly list of corresponding members.

Meantime the organization had seen the necessity of bringing together for cooperative action not only the Church Boards of Education but the representatives of the colleges themselves. A committee was appointed on which were such prominent educators as President Robert L. Kelly, Earlham College, President Donald J. Cowling, Carleton College, Doctor E. D. Burton, soon thereafter made President of the University of Chicago, and President R. Watson Cooper, Upper Iowa University. Doctor Kelly, who was also Chairman of the Board of Education of the Five Years Meeting of the Society of Friends and at that time the vice-president of the Council of Church Boards of Education, was made chairman of this committee. He called into consultation eleven other college presidents besides himself during the summer of 1914 in connection with the meeting of the National Education Association at St. Paul, Minnesota. This group unanimously approved the idea of inviting the college executives of the country to a meeting in Chicago to discuss their common tasks. President Kelly, as chairman of the committee of the Council and of the conferees at St. Paul, extended the invitation for a meeting to be held in Chicago, January, 1915. A committee consisting of President Kelly, President R. Watson Cooper, and President George E. Fellows of James Millikin University, was requested to prepare a constitution for presentation at this meeting. Some members of the Council committee thought if twenty-five colleges responded, it would be a good beginning. Others thought there would be more. One member of the committee ventured to say that his faith reached out to fifty. To the gratification of us all there were one hundred and nine separate institutions represented. President Kelly was made president, President John W. Baer, of Occidental College, vice-president, and Chancellor J. H. Kirkland, of Vanderbilt University, secretary, of this meeting in Chicago, January, 1915, which proceeded to organize the Association of American Colleges. The constant growth and development of this notable Association, which now enrolls in its membership almost every important American college—about four hundred and thirty—with the exception of some of the colleges connected with the state universities, is now a matter of history.

There is not space here to detail the various attempts made at cooperation which included in several sections of the country actual cooperative financial campaigns participated in by the representatives of the various denominational institutions. The educational value of the meetings and the reports which went out therefrom, and the personal contacts of these representatives of separate interests were of inestimable significance. It would also be impossible to give proper credit to all the pioneers. It may not be invidious, however, to say that among the chief supporters and promoters in addition to those already named were: Mr. R. D. Kyle of the United Presbyterian Board, Doctor James E. Clarke of the Presbyterian U. S. A. Board, and Doctor F. W. Padelford of the Northern Baptist Convention. For a short time Dr. R. Watson Cooper served as Executive Secretary of the Council. It should also be said that the Honorable P. P. Claxton, then United States Commissioner of Education, as well as Doctor Wallace Buttrick of the General Education Board, gave constant and sympathetic support and encouragement to the movement.

The greatest forward movement of both organizations came in 1917 as the result of the acceptance by Doctor Robert L. Kelly of the Executive Secretaryship. He had been intimately associated with the Council almost from the first and had been made the first president of the Association of American Colleges. His patience, persistence, tact, wisdom, and educational spirit during the past fourteen years have been among the great assets of the movement. There has been steady growth and development on broad lines, largely as a result of his skilful management. In our judgment these organizations have just begun to develop their possibilities and usefulness. They have a glorious history but an even greater future.

Functions

The Board of Education of the Northern Baptist Convention has four distinct phases of work: (1) the stimulation and development of an interest in education on the part of the constituency; (2) the nurture of Baptist schools and colleges by counsel and by financial assistance; (3) the watch-care of Baptist students in public institutions through the ministry of student secretaries, university pastors and local churches; (4) the direction of the missionary education of the churches.

A survey of Baptist institutions is now in progress under the direction of Dr. J. D. Elliff of the Department of Education of the University of Missouri. The organization, staff, financial conditions, etc. of the institutions are studied and recommendations made to the Baptist Board of Education and to the boards of trustees for the development of the institutions. The reports are entirely confidential.

Institutions

Relationship. There is no legal relationship existing between the Board and any institution. The colleges are all organized as independent institutions, with their own boards of trustees. In the case of two or three a minority of the members of the board are nominated by the Baptist State Convention of the state in which the college is located. In the case of some institutions, for example the University of Chicago, there is a stipulation in the charter that a majority of the trustees must be members of Baptist churches. Several colleges founded by the church, among which is the University of Rochester, have ceased to be Baptist colleges in any sense, except from the point of foundation and tradition.

Functions

The Board of Education of the Methodist Episcopal Church functions through two divisions: the Division of Educational Institutions, related to all the institutional enterprises in the United States; and the Division of Religious Education in the Local Church, which seeks to advance all the religious educational activities under the auspices of the local church in the United States and to cooperate in this work on the foreign field.

The Division of Educational Institutions makes annual appropriations to the schools sponsored by the Methodist Episcopal Church, and aid to students is granted in the form of loans from a revolving student loan fund. In the technical field of educational administration an attempt is made to serve as a clearing house for the experimental work in process and the best practices thus far evolved. This Division also serves the institutions by conferences with trustees, administrators and faculties on Christian ideals in education and the development of Christian leaders. It cooperates with the Board of Home Missions and Church Extension in maintaining the Wesley Foundations for the religious training of Methodist students at institutions not under the patronage of the church.

A thorough-going survey of all the institutions is now in process and will be finished by 1932. These surveys are in the inter-

The trustees of the two institutions belonging to the church at large must be confirmed by the General Conference or by the General Board of Christian Education, which is a creature of the General Conference, before they can serve as trustees. The trustees of those institutions belonging to an annual conference or a group of annual conferences must be elected, nominated or confirmed by the conference or conferences to which the institutions belong.

The following activities are integrated into the total educational program: Student Aid, Vocational Guidance, Men's Work, Stewardship, Missionary Education, Moral Welfare, Home and Church, Editorial, Publication, Research, Adult Education, Woman's Work, University Work, Colleges, Theological Seminaries and Training Schools.

A survey of the colleges was recently made by Dr. C. C. McCracken, but is unpublished.

Institutions

Relationship. The Board of Education recognizes two types of relationship among the institutions listed below. Some are organically connected with the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. or have by charter requirements or trustee and synodical enactments at least two thirds of their boards of control members of said church. Others are not connected with the Presbyterian Church by any legal ties, nor are they subject to ecclesiastical control. Their history, however, and associations with the life and work of the church are such as to justify earnest cooperation part; and to further the publication of better and better educational materials.

Institutions

Relationship. Hobart College, Kenyon College, St. Stephen's College and Trinity are associated with the Church by history. All Saints' Junior College, St. Mary's School, The University of the South, and the theological seminaries and training schools are organically connected by charter. St. Augustine's Collège is associated by practice.

There is no direct relationship between the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church and the secondary schools of the church. Where there is an organic connection, the management is under the diocese or an individual. The following definition qualifies a school as a Church school: (1) Its property must be legally secured for the Protestant Episcopal Church or for an organization affiliated with that Church. (2) It must follow the doctrine and practice of the Church in its teaching and in its worship. (3) The influence of churchmen in its management must be dominant and permanent, and (4) it must not be operated for private gain. The following institutions fall into two groups—those that come within the definition and others which do not, as a rule, satisfy the first and fourth conditions, but meet the requirements of the second and third. The latter are called "affiliated" and are so designated below.

TEACHERS OF BIBLE, RELIGION AND RELIGIOUS EDUCATION FOR 1930-31

The names of teachers of Bible, religion and religious education which appear below were supplied by the authorities of these institutions. In the colleges and universities, teachers colleges and junior colleges, wherever the teacher named is giving such course or courses under some other department, as for example a course in the New Testament in the Department of English, this has been indicated. In the secondary schools it is so unusual for a teacher to give full time to the teaching of these subjects that no attempt at such a distinction has been made.

When, however, a teacher is named as professor of Bible and Sociology, for example, no special note is made of this fact. College pastors and chaplains are named only when they are listed as giving courses in one of more of these subjects.

Teachers on this list who are members of the Association of Teachers of Religion or of the National Association of Biblical Instructors (Eastern and Southern Sections) are so indicated.

THE STANDARDS OF THE ACCREDITING AGENCIES

In the following pages appear the standards of the national and regional standardizing agencies for colleges, junior colleges and secondary schools. These are all as of December tenth, 1930, with the exception of the American Association of Junior Colleges. The institutions which are on the approved lists of these agencies are so indicated in the statistical section.

The standards adopted by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools are merely advisory and in no sense binding, although for the present the membership list of the Association constitutes its accredited list. The New England Association has set up standards for public secondary schools (not published here) and expects to perform the same service for private schools in the near future. However, the private schools included in this volume appearing on the New England Association list are noted.

The American Association of Junior Colleges does not approve junior colleges upon the basis of its own standards except in those areas in which there are no other accrediting agencies for such institutions operating. The policy of the Association is to accept for membership any junior college which has been recognized by a standardizing agency. The standards of the national organization have been for guidance. For purposes of information, however, junior colleges holding membership in this Association are indicated, the 1929 list being the latest available at the time of publication.

The American Association of University Women does not publish the criteria used as the basis for its approval of colleges and universities. In general the academic standards are the same as those of the Association of American Universities but in addition approved institutions must comply with certain standards of the Association in regard to the status of women in the student body, on the faculty, and on the Board of Trustees; adequate provision for the social life of the women students; proper protection for community health, including periodical medical examinations, facilities for the care of students in cases of illness, and precautions for the prevention of diseases; sound physical education; and provision for a dean of women in coeducational institutions with rank as a regular member of the faculty. Institutions on the approved list of the American Association of University Women so appear in the statistics under the heading, "Accreditment."

STANDARDS FOR COLLEGES*

The standardizing agencies are represented below as follows:

A—Association of American Universities.

M—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland.

NE—New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

NC—North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

NW—Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.

S—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States.

DEFINITION

A M The term "college" as used below is understood to
NW S designate all institutions of higher education which grant non-professional degrees.

NC A standard American college, university or technological institution—designated as "college" in this statement of standards—is an institution: "which is legally authorized to give non-professional bachelor's degrees; which is organized definitely on the basis of the completion of a standard secondary school curriculum; which organizes its curricula in such a way that the early years are a continuation of, and a supplement to, the work of the secondary school and at least the last two years are shaped more or less distinctly in the direction of special, professional or graduate instruction."

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

A M A college should demand for admission the satisfactory completion of a four-year course in a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency, or the equivalent of such a course. The major portion of the secondary school course accepted for admission should be definitely correlated with the curriculum to which the student is admitted.

* As of December 10, 1930.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

---

- NC S Specify completion of not less than "fifteen units" under same conditions as above.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

- A M A college should require for graduation the completion of a minimum quantitative requirement of 120
NE NC semester hours of credit (or the equivalent in term NW S hours, quarter hours, points, majors, or courses), with further scholastic qualitative requirements adapted by each institution to its conditions.

NUMBER OF DEGREES

- S The conferring of a multiplicity of degrees is discouraged. Small institutions should confine themselves to one or two. When more than one baccalaureate degree is offered, all should be equal in requirements for admission and for graduation. Institutions of limited resources and inadequate facilities for graduate work should confine themselves to strictly undergraduate courses.

FACULTY—SIZE

- A M The size of the faculty should bear a definite relation to the type of institution, the number of students,
NW S and the number of courses offered. For a college of approximately 100 students in a single curriculum the faculty should consist of at least eight heads of departments devoting full time to college work. With the growth of the student body the number of full time teachers should be correspondingly increased. The development of varied curricula should involve the addition of further heads of departments.

- NC Same as above, except for lines 3 to 6, which in this instance read as follows: "The college of 200 students or less with a single curriculum, shall maintain at least eight distinct departments, each having at least one person of professorial rank, giving full time to the college work of his department."

- NE The college should have a faculty so large that the ratio of the number of students to the number of faculty members above the grade of Assistant shall not exceed twenty to one. The college should have at least eight departments of liberal arts and sciences in each of which at least one teacher of professorial rank devotes his whole time to instruction.

FACULTY—TRAINING

A M NE The training of the members of the faculty of professorial rank should include at least two years of study in their respective fields of teaching in a recognized graduate school. It is desirable that the training of the head of a department should be equivalent to that required for the doctor's degree, or should represent a corresponding professional or technical training. A college should be judged in large part by the ratio which the number of persons of professorial rank with sound training, scholarly achievement, and successful experience as teachers bears to the total number of the teaching staff.

S In place of specifying training of a department head as "equivalent to that required for the doctor's degree" the statement reads: "The training of the head of a department should be that represented by three full years of coordinated graduate work in an institution of recognized standing, in the field in which he is to teach."

NC The minimum scholastic requirement of all teachers shall be graduation from a college belonging to this Association, or the equivalent. The training of the members of the faculty of professorial rank shall include at least two years of study in their respective fields of teaching in a recognized graduate school, presumably including the master's degree. For heads of departments, training should be equivalent to that required for the Ph.D. degree or should represent corresponding professional or technological training. The teacher's success is to be determined by the efficiency of his teaching as well as his research work. The college should be judged in large part by the ratio which the number of persons of professorial rank with sound training, scholarly achievement and successful experience as teachers, bears to the total number of the teaching staff.

FACULTY—SALARIES

The average salary paid members of the faculties
S is an important consideration in determining the standing of an institution. It is recommended that the salary of full professors be not less than $3,000 for nine months.

TEACHING SCHEDULES

A M Teaching schedules exceeding 16 hours per week
NW S per instructor should be interpreted as endangering educational efficiency.

NE The college should arrange the teaching schedules so that the total number of hours of teaching of any instructor shall vary according to the subject taught, not exceeding 18 hours per week, including extension work and work in other institutions.

NC The number of hours of classroom work given by each teacher will vary in different departments. To determine this, the amount of preparation required for the class and the amount of time needed for study to keep abreast of the subject, together with the number of students, must be taken into account. Teaching schedules, including classes for part-time students, exceeding 16 recitation hours or their equivalent per week, per instructor, will be interpreted as endangering educational efficiency.

SIZE OF CLASSES

A M Classes (exclusive of lectures) of more than thirty
NE NC students should be interpreted as endangering educa-
NW S tional efficiency.

FINANCES

The minimum annual operating income for an ac-
A M credited college, exclusive of payment of interest, annuities, etc., should be $50,000, of which not less than $25,000 should be derived from stable sources, other than students, preferably from permanent endowments. Increase in faculty, student body, and scope of instruction should be accompanied by increase in income from endowment. The financial status of each college should be judged in relation to its educational program.

In addition to above: "Services of members of the

A faculty contributed through permanent organizations for the support of educational programs may be capitalized in satisfaction of the requirements for endowment, the estimate of the equivalent to be based on payments ordinarily made for similar services of instructors, correspondingly trained, by institutions in the same section and operating under similar conditions."

The college should have an annual income of at least
NE $100,000, including tuition fees, but exclusive of other student charges. The income from endowment, or other sources, exclusive of student fees, should be at least $75,000.

The college, if a corporate institution, shall have a
NC minimum annual income of $50,000 for its educational program, one half of which shall be from sources other than payments by students and an additional annual income of $5,000, one half of which shall be from sources other than payments by students, for each 100 students above 200. Such college, if not tax-supported, shall possess a productive endowment of $500,000, and an additional endowment of $50,000 for each additional 100 students above 200. Income from permanent and officially authorized educational appropriations or associations shall be credited to the extent actually received as 5 per cent toward the endowment requirement, but to an amount not exceeding the average annual income from such appropriation in the preceding five years, provided, however, that this shall not apply to more than the amount required in excess of $300,000; and provided, further, that colleges electing to qualify under this interpretation be subject to annual review for accrediting.

The minimum annual operating income for an accredited college should be $50,000, of which not less than $25,000 should be derived from stable sources, other than students, preferably from permanent endowments. Increase in faculty, student body and scope of instruction should be accompanied by increase in endowment. The financial status of each college should be judged in relation to its educational program.

- S The college should have an annual income of not less than $50,000, and if not tax-supported, should have an endowment of not less than $500,000.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

- A M The material equipment and upkeep of a college,
NE NW including its buildings, lands, laboratories, apparatus, and libraries, and their efficient operation in relation to its educational progress, should also be considered when judging an institution.

NC The location and construction of the buildings, the lighting, heating, and ventilation of the rooms, the nature of the laboratories, corridors, closets, water supply, school furniture, apparatus, and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both students and teachers.

- S The location and construction of buildings, the lighting, heating, and ventilation of the rooms and the general sanitary equipment shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both students and teachers.

LIBRARIES

- A M NE A college should have a live, well-distributed, professionally administered library of at least 8,000 volumes, exclusive of public documents, bearing specifically upon the subjects taught and with a definite annual appropriation for the purchase of new books.
NC NW

NC In addition to the above: "and current periodicals. It is urged that such appropriation be at least five dollars per student registered."

- S The college should have a live, well distributed library of at least 12,000 volumes, in addition to duplicates and public documents, bearing specifically upon the subjects taught and administered by a professionally trained librarian. For a college of approximately 300 students and a minimum number of departments, there should be spent annually for the library, exclusive of the care of the building, not less than $5,000, with proportionate increase for larger student bodies and a larger number of departments. Leading periodicals in the different fields covered by the curriculum should be taken as well as those of more general cultural interest. There should be a catalog of approved type. The library should be open not less than ten hours per school day. The building should be well lighted, protected as far as possible against fire, and equipped with adequate working quarters for the staff. Seating capacity for at least 15 per cent of the student body should be provided in the reading rooms. Arrangements should be made through freshman week, orientation courses, or otherwise, for students to receive instruction in the use of the library.

LABORATORIES

NC The college shall be provided with a laboratory equipment sufficient to develop fully and illustrate each course announced.

S The laboratory equipment shall be adequate for all the experiments called for by the courses offered in the sciences, and these facilities shall be kept up by means of an annual appropriation in keeping with the curriculum.

SECONDARY SCHOOLS

A M A college should not maintain a preparatory school
NW S as part of its college organization. If such a school is maintained under the college charter, it should be kept rigidly distinct and separate from the college in students, faculty, buildings, and discipline.

NC A college shall not maintain a secondary school as part of its college organization except for training school purposes.

PROFESSIONAL DEPARTMENTS

NC S When an institution has, in addition to the college of liberal arts, professional or technical schools or departments, the college of liberal arts shall not be accepted for the approved list of the Association unless the professional or technical departments are of an accepted grade.

CHRISTIAN EDUCATION

- S In addition to above: "national standards being used when available."

GENERAL STANDARDS

A M In determining the standing of a college, emphasis
NC NW should be placed upon the character of the curriculum, the efficiency of instruction, the standard for regular degrees, the conservatism in granting honorary degrees, the tone of the institution, and its success in stimulating and preparing students to do satisfactory work in recognized graduate, professional, or research institutions.

- NC Add after the phrase, "efficiency of instruction,"
"and the scientific spirit."

NE The college should be able to prepare its graduates to enter recognized graduate schools as candidates for advanced degrees.

S The character of the curriculum, efficiency of instruction, the scientific spirit, the soundness of scholarship, the standard for regular degrees, the conservatism in granting honorary degrees, the character of its publicity, and the tone of the institution shall also be factors in determining its standing. The curriculum should provide both for breadth of study and for concentration. It should have justifiable relation to the resources of the institution.

The institution must be able to prepare its students to enter recognized graduate, professional, or research institutions as candidates for advanced degrees.

REGISTRATION

NC No institution shall be admitted to the accredited list, or continued more than one year on such list, unless it has a regular college registration of at least 100 students. A notably small proportion of college students registered in the third and fourth years, continued over a period of several years, will constitute ground for dropping an institution from the accredited list.

- S At least 75 per cent of the students in a college should be pursuing courses leading to baccalaureate degrees in arts and sciences.

EXTRA CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

- NC Any form of financial aid to athletes, or a free training table for athletes renders an institution ineligible for accrediting.

- S The proper administration of athletics, amusements, fraternities, and all other extra curricular activities is one of the fundamental tests of a standard college.

All members of this Association which engage in intercollegiate athletics shall also hold membership in some athletic conference or association, approved by this Association, which requires adherence to the widely recognized safeguards against abuse, such as forbidding the playing of "special" students, the non-migrant rule, and the one-year rule, together with the rules which experience has proved to be necessary.

INSPECTION

- A M NC No college should be accredited until it has been inspected and reported upon by an agent or agents regularly appointed by the accrediting organization.
NW S

FILING OF BLANK

- S No institution shall be placed or retained on the approved list unless a regular information blank has been filed with the Commission. The list shall be approved from year to year by the Commission. Failure to file the blank shall be cause for dropping an institution.

STANDARDS FOR JUNIOR COLLEGES*

The standardizing agencies are represented below as follows:

J—American Association of Junior Colleges.

M—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland.

NE—New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

NC—North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

NW—Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools.

S—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States.

DEFINITION

J The junior college, as at present constituted, comprises several different forms of organization; first, a two-year institution embracing two years of collegiate work in advance of the completion of what is ordinarily termed the twelfth grade of an accredited secondary school; secondly, the institution embracing two years of standard collegiate work integrated with one or more contiguous years of fully accredited high school work administered as a single unit. The aims of the curriculum in either case are to meet the needs of the student for maximum growth and development, to further his social maturity, and to enable him to make his greatest contribution as a member of society.

NC A standard junior college is an institution of higher education with a curriculum covering two years of collegiate work (at least sixty semester hours, or the equivalent in year, term, or quarter credit) which is based upon and continues or supplements the work of secondary instruction as given in any accredited four-year high school.

* As of December 10, 1930, except those of the American Association of Junior Colleges, which are not revised according to the changes made at the 1930 meeting.

STANDARDS FOR JUNIOR COLLEGES

NW In defining standards for the junior college the committee had in mind an institution covering the first two years of college work. It is not unmindful of the fact that rarely is the junior college confined to this form of organization; usually these two years of college work are united with two or more of high school work, or with preparatory classes, or with other collateral courses for teachers. For the present the committee has suggested as standards certain requirements pertaining largely, if not exclusively, to these two college years, believing these two years to be the essential part of the work. The existence of these two years alone justifies the term "junior college" and all attempts at standardization should proceed on the assumed identity of this work in scope and thoroughness with similar work done by the standard four-year college.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS

J For entrance to the two-year junior college fifteen standard units are required. The requirements for admission to the four-year junior college shall be the satisfactory completion of seven standard units from an accredited secondary school. For entrance to other type of organization proportioned number of units shall be required. The student should maintain a continuity of interest in the selection of his studies throughout his junior college course.

M NE A junior college should demand for admission the NW satisfactory completion of a four-year course in a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency, or the equivalent of such a course. The major portion of the secondary school course accepted for admission should be definitely correlated with the curriculum to which the student is admitted.

NC The junior college shall require for admission at least fifteen units of secondary work as defined by this Association, or the equivalent. These units must represent work done in a secondary school approved by a recognized accrediting agency or by the result of examinations. The major portion of the units accepted for admission must be definitely correlated with the curriculum to which the student is admitted.

S The requirement for admission shall be the satisfactory completion of a four-year course of not less than fifteen units in a secondary school that is approved by this Association, or by another recognized accrediting agency, or equivalent of such a course as shown by examination.

ENTRANCE TO TERMINAL COURSES

J For entrance to terminal courses the criterion shall be the capacity of the individual to profit by the instruction offered.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

J NE For graduation from a junior college the student must complete in addition to the amount of work required for the completion of the traditional standard high school sixty semester hours, with such scholastic qualitative requirements adapted by each institution to its condition.

M NW Requirements for graduation must be based on the satisfactory completion of thirty year-hours, or sixty semester hours of work corresponding in grade to that given in the freshman and sophomore years of standard colleges and universities. In addition to the above quantitative requirements each institution should adopt other qualitative standards suited to its individual conditions.

S The minimum requirement for graduation shall be sixty semester hours of credit.

DEGREES

S Junior colleges shall not grant degrees.

STUDENT LOAD

J A student shall not carry for credit more than sixteen hours per week, unless his work averages 90 or more, in which case he may carry for credit as many as eighteen hours.

COURSES OF STUDY AND SIZE OF FACULTY

J The number of separate departments maintained shall not be less than five (English, social science, foreign languages, mathematics, science) and the number of teachers not less than five employed specifically for instruction in the upper level of the junior college, and giving the major portion of their time to such instruction.

M The curricula should provide both for breadth of study and for concentration and should have justifiable relation to the resources of the institution. The number of departments and the size of the faculty should be increased with the development of varied curricula and the growth of the student body.

NE The junior college should offer instruction in at least the five fields of English, mathematics, foreign languages, social sciences and natural sciences. In each of these divisions at least one teacher should devote his whole time to instruction and when departments are established within the divisions, there should be an adequate number of teachers especially trained for their particular work. The junior college should have a faculty so large that the ratio of the number of students to the number of faculty members above the grade of assistant shall not exceed twenty to one.

NW The curriculum should provide both for breadth of study and should have justifiable relation to the resources of the institution, but there should be a minimum of five departments. This number of departments and the size of the faculty should be increased with the development of varied curricula and the growth of the student body.

S The number of separate departments shall be not less than five (English, history, foreign language, mathematics, science). The number of teachers shall be not less than five employed specifically for college instruction, giving the major part of their time to college instruction.

FACULTY—TRAINING

J The minimum preparation of teachers shall not be less than the equivalent of one year of work satisfactorily completed in a graduate school of recognized standing, it being assumed that teachers already hold the baccalaureate degree.

NE The training of the members of the faculty should include at least one year of graduate study together with evidence of successful experience or efficiency in teaching. A junior college should be judged in large part by the scholarly achievement and successful experience as teachers of members of the teaching staff.

NC The minimum scholastic requirement of all teachers of classes in the junior college shall be graduation from a college belonging to this Association, or an equivalent, and, in addition, graduate work in a university of recognized standing amounting to one year.

M NW Members of the teaching staff in regular charge of classes must have at least a baccalaureate degree or the equivalent of this degree in special training and should have not less than one year of graduate work in a recognized graduate school; in all cases efficiency in teaching as well as the amount of graduate work should be taken into account.

S The minimum scholastic requirements of teachers in the junior college shall be graduation from a standard college and, in addition, graduate work amounting to one year at least in a graduate school of recognized standing. The courses taught by any teacher should be in the field of specialization represented by his graduate work.

FACULTY—SALARIES

S Salaries shall be such as to insure employment and retention of well-trained and experienced teachers.

TEACHING SCHEDULES

J The average number of class hours per week for each instructor shall not exceed eighteen; fifteen is recommended as a standard load.

M Teaching schedules exceeding sixteen hours per week per instructor should be interpreted as endangering educational efficiency.

NE The junior college should arrange the teaching schedules so that the total number of hours of teaching of any instructor shall vary according to the subject taught, not exceeding eighteen hours per week, including extension work and work in other institutions.

NC The teaching schedule of instructors, including classes for part-time students, shall not exceed eighteen hours a week; fifteen hours are recommended as the maximum.

NW The teaching schedule of instructors teaching junior college classes shall be limited to twenty-two hours per week; for instructors devoting their whole time to junior college classes eighteen hours should be the maximum.

S The average number of credit hours per week for each instructor shall not exceed sixteen hours of college work or eighteen hours, if part of the work is done in high school.

SIZE OF CLASSES

J The number of students in a class shall not exceed thirty-five (except for lectures). It is recommended that the number in a class in foreign language and English composition should not exceed twenty-five. The number of students in laboratory section shall not exceed the number for which desk space and equipment have been provided.

M NE Classes, exclusive of lectures, of more than thirty
NC NW students shall be interpreted as endangering educational efficiency.

S The number of students in a class shall not exceed thirty (except for lectures). It is recommended that the number of students in a class in a foreign language shall not exceed twenty-five. The number of students in a laboratory section shall not exceed the number for which desk space and equipment have been provided.

REGISTRATION

J No junior college shall be accredited that has fewer than sixty students in its upper two years of regular work.

M No junior college should be accredited unless it has a registration of not less than fifty students.

NC No junior college shall be accredited unless it has at least sixty students regularly registered in accordance with these standards. Of those enrolled at least one third should be in the second year.

NW The college work should be the essential part of the curriculum. No junior college should be accredited, unless it has a registration of 25 students, if it offers but a single year, and 50 students if it offers more than a single year.

S The number of regular college students shall not be less than sixty. At least 75 per cent of the students in a junior college shall be pursuing curricula leading to graduation.

FINANCES

J The minimum annual operating expenditure of the two-year junior college should be $20,000 or $30,000 for a four-year junior college, of which ordinarily not less than $10,000 should be derived from stable sources other than students, such as public or church support or permanent endowment. Increase in student body, faculty and scope of instruction should be accompanied by increase of income from such stable sources. The financial status of each junior college shall be judged in relation to its educational program.

M S The minimum annual operating income for the two years of junior college work should be $20,000, of which not less than $10,000 should be derived from stable sources other than students, such as public support or permanent endowment. Increase in faculty, student body and scope of instruction should be accompanied by increase of income from such stable sources. The financial status of each junior college should be judged in relation to its educational program.

NE The operating income for the junior college should be at least $350 per student. The income from endowment, or other source exclusive of student fees should become as soon as possible at least $50,000 per annum.

NC The minimum annual operation income for the educational program of the junior college should be at least $20,000, of which not less than $10,000 should be derived from stable sources other than students' fees, such as public support, or permanent endowment, or income from permanent and officially authorized educational appropriations of churches and church boards, or duly recognized corporations or associations. Such latter income shall be credited to the extent actually received, but to an amount not exceeding the average income from such appropriations for the preceding years.

The minimum annual operating income for the two
NW years of junior college work should be $10,000, of which not less than $5,000 should be derived from stable sources, other than students, preferably permanent endowments. Increase in faculty, student body, and scope of instruction should be accompanied by increase of income from such stable sources. The financial status of each junior college should be judged in relation to its educational program.

LIBRARY

A working library, adequately cataloged, modern
J and well-distributed, of not less than 3,500 volumes, exclusive of public documents, with appropriate current periodicals, shall be maintained and there shall be a reading room in connection with the library which is open to the students throughout the day. A trained librarian shall be in charge of the library. A definite annual appropriation for the support of the library shall be provided. It is recommended that this shall not be less than $500.

A junior college should have a well-distributed professionally administered library of at least 4,000 volumes, exclusive of public documents, bearing specifically upon the subjects taught and with a definite annual appropriation for the purchase of new books.

The junior college shall have a live, well-distributed
NC and efficiently administered library of at least 3,000 volumes, exclusive of public documents, selected with special reference to college work and with a definite annual appropriation for the purchase of current books and periodicals. It is urged that such an appropriation be at least $800.

The junior college shall have a modern, well-distributed, cataloged, and efficiently administered library of at least 2,500 volumes, exclusive of public documents, selected with special reference to college work, and with a definite annual appropriation for the purchase of books and periodicals. It is urged that such an appropriation be at least $500.

LABORATORIES

The laboratories shall be adequately equipped for individual work on the part of each student, and an annual income shall be provided. It is recommended that the school with limited income be equipped for good work in one or two sciences and not attempt to work in others.

The junior college shall be provided with laboratories fully equipped to illustrate each course announced.

BUILDINGS AND EQUIPMENT

The location and construction of the buildings, the lighting, heating, and ventilation of the rooms, and the nature of the laboratories, corridors, closets, water supply, school furniture, apparatus and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for teachers and students.

The material equipment and upkeep of a junior college, including its buildings, lands, laboratories, apparatus and libraries, and their efficient operation in relation to its educational program, should also be considered when judging the institution.

The material equipment and upkeep of a junior college, including its buildings, lands, laboratories and apparatus for the teaching of science, should be sufficient to insure efficient operation.

ORGANIZATION AND STANDING

Although the junior college may have courses of a general nature adapted to students who do not intend to proceed further, when it undertakes preprofessional work it should be able to prepare its students for recognized professional schools that require two years of college work, and when it has courses equivalent to those of the first two years of undergraduate college work it should be judged by its ability to have its students accepted for the junior year in college.

The work of the junior college shall be organized

NC on a college, as distinguished from high school basis, so as to secure equivalency in prerequisites, scope and thoroughness to the work done in the first two years of a standard college as defined by this Association.

Where a junior college and high school are maintained together, the high school shall have been accredited by this Association. The students shall be taught in separate classes, no high school student being admitted to any college courses.

GENERAL STANDARDS

The character of the curriculum, the efficiency of

J instruction, the system of keeping students' records, the spirit and atmosphere of the institution, the nature of its publicity, and its standing in the educational world shall be factors in determining its rating.

The character of the curriculum, the efficiency of

NC S instruction, the scientific spirit, and the tone of the institution shall be factors in determining its standing and eligibility for accrediting.

EXTRA-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES

Athletics, amusements, fraternities, and sororities,

J and all extra-curricula activities shall be administered under faculty supervision and shall not occupy an undue place in the life of the college.

In judging the standing of a junior college account shall be taken of the existence of and the influence upon the students of such extra-curricula activities as: student government, student publications, literary societies, debating teams, current event, scientific, musical, artistic, and foreign language clubs, religious and social service organizations. Such activities properly conducted develop leadership and enrich college experiences.

NC Any form of financial aid to athletes, or a free training table for athletes, renders an institution ineligible for accrediting.

S Athletics, amusements, fraternities, and other extra-curricular activities shall be properly administered and shall not occupy an undue place in the life of the college.

LENGTH OF TERM

J A junior college shall be in session at least 34 full weeks each year exclusive of all holidays.

PERMANENT RECORDS

J A system of permanent records showing clearly all credits (including entrance records) of each student shall be carefully kept. The original credentials filed from other institutions shall be retained by the junior college.

INSPECTION

M S No junior college shall be accredited until it has been inspected and reported upon by an agent or agents appointed by this Association.

NC In addition to above: "Such inspection will not be authorized until the second year or until the junior college shall have been in full operation for at least one full year."

FILING OF BLANK

S No institution shall be placed or retained on the approved list unless a regular information blank has been filed with the Commission. Failure to file the blank shall be cause for dropping an institution.

STANDARDS FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS*

The regional standardizing agencies are represented below as follows:

M—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Middle States and Maryland

NC—North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools

NW—Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools

S—Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATION

M A school to be accredited shall require for graduation the completion of a four-year secondary school course covering fifteen units.

NC NW Three-year high schools must require a minimum of eleven units for graduation. Other high schools must require a minimum of fifteen credits for graduation.

S No school shall be accredited which does not require for graduation the completion of a four-year high school course of study embracing sixteen units as defined by the Association.

LENGTH OF SCHOOL YEAR

M The Association recommends a school year consisting of at least thirty-six weeks.

NC NW The school year shall consist of a minimum of thirty-six weeks.

DEFINITION OF A UNIT

M NC A unit is defined as a year's work in one subject requiring approximately one-fourth of the student's time. It includes in the aggregate not less than one hundred and twenty sixty-minute hours of prepared classroom work. The minimum length of a recitation period shall be forty minutes, exclusive of time used in the changing of classes or teachers.

* As of December 10, 1930.

NC Add to above; "two class periods of unprepared work being equivalent to one class period of prepared work."

NW A unit course of study in a secondary school is defined as a course covering an academic year of not less than thirty-six weeks that shall include in the aggregate not less than the equivalent of one hundred and twenty sixty-minute hours of classroom work, two hours of manual training or laboratory work being equivalent to one hour of classroom work.

S A unit represents a year's study in any subject in a secondary school constituting approximately a quarter of a full year's work.

TEACHERS—NUMBER

M The Association will hold that a sufficient number of qualified teachers must be provided to care adequately for all instruction offered. No school, hereafter, will be placed on the list of accredited secondary schools until positive evidence is presented that for at least three years immediately preceding the application, a staff equivalent to four full-time teachers has been maintained.

NW The Association will decline to consider any school whose teaching force consists of fewer than four teachers of academic subjects exclusive of the superintendent.

S The Commission will decline to consider any school whose teaching force consists of fewer than four teachers giving their full time to high school instruction.

TEACHERS—TRAINING

M The standard of preparation for a teacher of academic subjects shall be the completion of a four years' course in a college approved by this Association or in a college of equal rank. Due consideration shall be given to teachers with other than this preparation who have demonstrated their ability through successful experience, provided that at least three-fourths of the teachers of academic subjects meet the standards of preparation. Teachers should have had professional training or should have had successful teaching experience.

The minimum attainments of a teacher of any academic subject (the following being listed as academic subjects; English, mathematics, foreign languages, natural science, and social science) of the supervisors of teachers of such subjects, of the superintendent, and of the principal, shall be college work, equivalent to graduation from a college belonging to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The minimum professional training of a teacher of any academic subject, of the supervisors of teachers of such subjects, of the superintendent and of the principal shall be fifteen semester hours in education. All teachers of academic subjects in new schools and all new teachers of academic subjects in accredited schools must teach in the fields of their major or minor specialization in college preparation.

All teachers of one or more academic subjects must satisfy the following requirements: (a) Graduation (bachelor or equivalent degree) from a college or university approved by the Northwest Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, by a similar accrediting association, or by the educational authorities of the state in which the college is located. (b) The minimum professional training of teachers of any academic subject shall be at least fifteen semester hours in education. (c) All teachers of academic subjects in new schools and all new teachers of academic subjects in accredited schools must teach in the fields of their major or minor specialization in college preparation. The term "academic subjects" includes work of the following departments: English, laboratory science, mathematics, foreign language, and social sciences.

The minimum scholastic attainment required of the faculty of any accredited secondary school on the Southern list is, that not less than 75 per cent of the total number of teachers of academic subjects, including the principal, teachers of agriculture and home economics, should hold bachelor's degrees from a college approved by the Association. All teachers shall have had not less than twelve semester hours' work in education.

TEACHING LOAD

M The number of daily periods of classroom instruction for a teacher should not exceed five. A school requiring of any teacher more than six teaching periods a day or a daily teaching load of more than one hundred and fifty pupil periods, must justify deviation from this standard. A double period of laboratory work or of study room supervision may be counted as the equivalent of one period of teaching. No school with an excessive number of pupils per teacher based on average attendance shall be accredited. Thirty is recommended as a maximum.

NC An average enrolment in the school in excess of thirty pupils per teacher shall be considered as a violation of this standard. For interpreting this standard, the principal, vice principals, study hall teachers, vocational advisers, librarians, and other supervisory officers may be counted as teachers for such portion of their time as they devote to the management of the high school. In addition, such clerks as aid in the administration of the high school may be counted on the basis of two full-time clerks for one full-time teacher. The Association recommends a pupil-teacher ratio of 25 to 1; five classes daily per teacher; a total of 150 pupil-periods per teacher per day.

NW No school showing an excessive teacher load shall be accredited. The Association recommends that (1) the average daily attendance for October divided by the number of full-time teachers should give a quotient not greater than twenty-five; (2) the number of daily classes taught per teacher should not exceed five; (3) the total number of students instructed by any teacher of academic subjects should not exceed 150 per day. The following are maximum and, if exceeded in any particular constitute violations of this standard: (1) teacher-pupil ratio 1-30; (2) six classes per teacher per day; (3) 160 student hours per day for any academic teacher. The following may be included under the term "teachers" for such time as they give to high school work or management: principals, vice-principals, study hall teachers, vocational advisers, librarians, and supervising teachers.

S The maximum teaching load of any teacher shall be 750 pupil-periods per week with not more than six daily recitations. The Commission will scrutinize with extreme care any school in which instructors teach as many as six daily periods. In interpreting this standard a double period in laboratory, shop or two periods of study-room supervision shall be counted as the equivalent of one recitation period. All schools whose record shows an excessive number of pupils per teacher, as based on the number enrolled October 1, even though they may technically meet all other requirements, will be rejected. The size of classes shall not be such as to impair efficiency of instruction. Thirty is recommended as a maximum. As many as forty in any class may subject the school to special investigation.

SALARIES

M A school to be accredited shall have a salary schedule which is sufficient to secure teachers with the foregoing qualifications.

NC No school shall hereafter be accredited whose salary schedule is not sufficient to command and retain teachers whose qualifications are such as required by this Association.

S The Commission recommends $1,000 as the minimum salary for teachers.

PROGRAM OF STUDIES

M The Association recommends that every accredited school offer units of work in English, mathematics, foreign languages, social and natural sciences, practical and fine arts, and physical education. Vocational subjects should be offered where local conditions permit.

NC The Association recommends that three units in English, two units in social science, one unit in biological science, or one unit in general science, and one unit in physical education or health (with or without credit), be required for graduation for all students in the four-year high school. It further recommends the introduction of vocational subjects such as agriculture, manual training, household economics, and commercial subjects into schools where local conditions render such introduction feasible. The Association will hold that a sufficient number of qualified teachers must be provided to care adequately for all instruction offered.

The Association recommends the introduction of
NW the so-called vocational subjects, such as agriculture, manual training, household arts, and commercial subjects into schools where local conditions render such instruction feasible, but the Commission will hold that a sufficient number of qualified teachers must be added to provide adequately for such instruction.

When local conditions warrant the introduction of
S vocational subjects, such as agriculture, manual training, household arts, and commercial subjects, the Commission will hold that a sufficient number of teachers must be employed and proper equipment added to provide adequately for such instruction.

BUILDINGS

The location, construction and care of school buildings and equipment shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both pupils and teachers.
M

The location, construction and capacity of the
NC building, the lighting, heating and ventilation of the rooms, the nature of the lavatories, corridors, closets water supply, school furniture, apparatus, and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both pupil and teacher.

The location and construction of the buildings, the
NW S lighting, heating, and ventilation, of the rooms, the nature of the lavatories, corridors, closets, water supply, school furniture, apparatus, and methods of cleaning shall be such as to insure hygienic conditions for both pupils and teachers.

LIBRARIES AND LABORATORIES

M The laboratory and the library facilities shall be adequate to the needs of instruction in the subjects taught.

NC The library and laboratory facilities must be adequate to meet the needs of instruction in all courses offered. The library shall be classified and cataloged, and an annual inventory should be made of laboratory and shop equipment.

The Commission recommends the following provisions for library maintenance: (a) Schools of 1,000 or more pupils, at least one full-time librarian who is professionally trained and holds a bachelor's degree or its equivalent; cataloged library of 800 live books chosen so as to serve school needs; at least $200 per year for books and periodicals. (b) Schools of less than 1,000 pupils, part-time teacher-librarian with technical library training; about 15 periodicals chosen to serve the school needs; at least 75 cents per pupil, according to local condition. (c) Proper allowance for library aid; proper allowance to be made for public library aid.

NW The laboratory and library facilities shall be adequate to the needs of instruction in the subjects taught and be properly inventoried.

S The laboratory and library facilities shall be adequate for the needs of instruction in the courses taught. The library should have not less than 500 volumes of well selected books, exclusive of government publications and text-books.

INSTRUCTION AND SPIRIT

M The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and study, the general intellectual and moral
NW S tone of a school are paramount factors in determining its standing, and therefore only schools which rank high in these qualities as shown through systematic, competent, sympathetic inspection, or by achievement of their graduates in higher institutions, shall be considered eligible for the accredited list.

NC The efficiency of instruction, the acquired habits of thought and study, the general intellectual, and moral tone of a school and the cooperative attitude of the community are paramount factors, and therefore only schools that rank well in these particulars, as evidenced by rigid, thorough-going sympathetic inspection, shall be considered eligible for the list.

PUPIL LOAD

NC Four unit courses, or the equivalent in fractional unit courses shall be considered the normal amount of work carried for credit toward graduation by the average or medium student. Only such students as rank in ability in the upper 25 per cent of the student body may be allowed to take more than four units for credit.

NW The normal pupil load shall be four unit courses yearly, exclusive of music, drawing, physical training, typewriting, and student activities. Where more than 15 per cent of the pupils enrolled exceed this normal load, satisfactory explanation of the policy of the school in this regard must be made.

S More than twenty periods per week should be discouraged.

RECORDS

NC Accurate and complete records of attendance and scholarship must be kept in such form as to be conveniently used and safely preserved.

NW Up-to-date records of attendance and scholarship shall be kept accurately and preserved safely.

GENERAL

NW The Association aims to accredit only those schools which possess organization, teaching force, standards of scholarship, equipment and esprit de corps, of such character as will unhesitatingly commend them to any educator, college, or university in the northwest territory.

S In every case the character of the work done by a school must be the determining factor in accrediting. By personal visits of the inspectors, by detailed reports from the principal, and by the records made by the students in colleges, the character of a school's work shall be, from time to time, determined.

FILING OF BLANK

S No school shall be considered unless the regular annual blank furnished for the purpose shall have been filled out and placed on file with the inspector. In case of schools having twelve or more teachers, a complete report on teachers once in three years will be sufficient, but full data relative to changes must be presented annually.

THE STATISTICS

Statistical forms requesting information indicated below were sent to the colleges and universities, junior colleges, secondary schools and training schools listed by the twenty-one constituent boards of the Council of Church Boards of Education. These same forms were sent to all of the Protestant theological schools and departments in the United States.

(Do not include equipment, apparatus, machinery, furniture, etc.)
2. Amount of productive endowment, 1929-30.
(Computed on same basis as for standardizing agency, which name.)
3. Amount of your present indebtedness.
4. Tuition fee per year (two semesters, three quarters, or equivalent) for 1930-31.
5. Current expenditures for the regular school year of 1929-30. (Do not include summer school.)
  - A. Strictly educational service.
(Instructional costs, administration, operation and maintenance.)
  - B. Auxiliary activities.
(Pensions, scholarships, extra-curricula activities, publicity, personnel service, appointments office, etc.)
  - C. Non-educational expense.
(Annuities, interest on indebtedness, financial promotion, etc.)
  - D. Service properties expense.
(Dining halls, dormitories, bookstore, etc.)

In the few instances in which institutions failed to reply, statistics from the last HANDBOOK are reprinted.

There are 278 four-year colleges and universities on the present list, the number remaining practically the same as in the previous edition. Although five colleges were added to the list as the result of two new boards coming into the Council, this was offset by the dropping of colleges from other board lists and the merging and closing of some institutions. The status of a few institutions also changed. In some instances junior colleges expanded to senior rank, while a few four-year colleges were reduced to junior college rating. The changes, however, practically balance each other.

* The four-year colleges were also requested to report the cost of their grounds, buildings, and equipment.

THE STATISTICS

The 278 colleges enrolled during the year, 1929-30, 182,748 students, exclusive of summer school and extension courses, a decrease of over thirty thousand since 1926-27. Some of this decrease is no doubt apparent rather than real as it is probable that the figures are not entirely comparable. In the previous HANDBOOK most of the statistics were taken from the published reports of the boards, and it was not always definitely indicated as to what the figures included.

For these students there were 13,131 full time teachers, including part time faculty members computed on a fractional basis, giving a ratio for the entire group of one teacher to every fourteen students.

The grounds and buildings of these colleges are appraised at $352,625,098 and equipment costing $49,980,869 was reported. The productive endowment for this group amounts to $464,354,470, $2,540 per student, and represents an increase of $112,337,829 since 1926-27. Against these funds, however, must be charged indebtedness reported at $33,202,446. Comparative data on this item are not available.

Unfortunately, a few colleges were unable to distribute their current expenditures according to the above schedule, but in those giving figures on the item, "strictly educational service" an average of $342 per student was spent in 1929-30.

The 70 junior colleges enrolled 13,029 students and had a faculty of 979 teachers last year. Their grounds and buildings are appraised at $19,036,816, and their productive funds amount to $6,605,272, a per capita endowment of $510. They have an indebtedness of $2,962,802, while their total expenditures for 1929-30 came to $4,380,406.

The number of secondary schools on the list is 199, twenty-eight less than in the last HANDBOOK. This is due in part to the fact that some of them have achieved junior college rating, and in part to other conditions—some having severed their relations with the boards, others having been closed. In 1929-30 these schools enrolled 33,355 students and reported 2,636 teachers. The grounds and buildings are valued at $52,289,027, and their productive endowment at $13,639,255. Many of these institutions are essentially missionary in character and are serving large numbers of students with a minimum of support and equipment.

One hundred and seventy-five theological schools and departments are listed, one less than before. A few have been added, while others have been dropped, most of the latter being negro schools for which no information was available. As will be observed, several of the institutions would not or could not send in adequate reports. Where the theological school is a department of a college or university, only occasionally does it have its own buildings, permanent funds and budget. On this account no totals are given for such items. It appears that 13,105 students were enrolled in these schools and departments in the year, 1929-30. But in view of the fact that no statistics were supplied in some instances while in several others it was necessary to use the 1926-27 figures, it is hardly safe to assume that the apparent increase of over twenty-six hundred students, since 1926-27, represents the actual situation. For these students a faculty of 1,071 was employed, but this item is also subject to the same criticism as the enrolment figure.

Although the statistical form used for colleges and other institutions on the board lists does not appear to be well adapted for training schools, an effort was made by most of their executives to supply the information desired. The twenty-seven training schools reported an enrolment of 1,504 students and a faculty of 637. Grounds and buildings are valued at $5,787,648 and productive endowment amounting to $1,058,675 was reported. But there is an indebtedness of $1,127,397 in this group. The current expenditures of these schools was in 1929-30 $693,863.

In the column headed "Accreditment" appears the recognition given these institutions by the national and regional standardizing agencies. With the exception of the American Association of Junior Colleges, where the 1929 list was used, changes made in the accrediting of institutions at the 1930 meetings are included.

A MESSAGE FROM RABINDRANATH TAGORE

The opening of the Suez Canal has freed the path of commerce between the two great geographical divisions of the world. My appeal is to open up the channel for the commerce of culture between the Western Continents and my own country, India which represents the East, for through such freedom of communication will be fulfilled a most important mission of education. Mountains and seas can not obstruct the fact that deep in our beings we need you and you need us, for we are kin.

—Rabindranath Tagore

As the Poet has been prevented by illness from greeting you individually from public platforms, please consider the above as a personal message to you. Would it not be possible for you or your group to send him a word of fellowship and cheer. If so, address him c/o American Friends' Service Committee (Quakers) 20 South 12th St., Philadelphia, Pa. Two hundred paintings by Tagore are on exhibit. These have been hailed in Europe as the beginning of a new era in Art. The Art Gallery of Toronto says: "These are genuinely naïve and original expressions: extraordinary evidence of eternal youth persistent in a hoary and venerable personage."
